

Singapore Chinese Chamber of Commerce & Industry supports Singapore government's call to help China community fight against the novel coronavirus

In view of the challenging situation of novel coronavirus (2019-nCoV) outbreak in China, Singapore Chinese Chamber of Commerce & Industry (SCCCI) strongly supports the effort of Singapore government putting together an assistance package to help the communities in China affected by the outbreak.

Mr Roland Ng, President of SCCCI said that "Since the outbreak of the novel coronavirus, we have witnessed China's relentless effort in battling the outbreak. SCCCI will be gathering support from our members and public to respond to the government's call. We urge the business community in Singapore and members of public to contribute in helping China to fight against the 2019-nCoV."

Members of SCCCI and public who would like to contribute, may deposit the cheques in the box provided at SCCCI office or post the cheques to SCCCI. SCCCI will be sending all donations to Singapore Red Cross Society for consolidation of the donation.

SCCCI office address as follows:
